NO THROUGH ROUTE FOR VALLEY ROAD SAYS STATE SENATOR FRED FARR

The Division of Highways has "given up any idea" of using the Carmel Valley Road as part of any alternate route from Monterey to San Simeon, according to a letter from State Senator Fred Farr, received Tuesday by John Sigourney, CVPOA president.

Engineers studying the feasibility of such a route, introduced by Farr and passed by the Senate early this year, did give initial consideration to putting it through the Valley, Farr confirmed. But they abandoned the idea "because of the attitude of Carmel Valley residents," the letter concluded.

Farr promised that he will continue to "watch the development of this study ... so that the proposed highway will in no way diminish the beauty of our country." Any proposed plan will be reported to the legislature before action can be taken by the Division of Highways, Farr added.

Young People Form New Recreation Club

Sixty-two young people met in the Carmel Valley Community Center Tuesday night to form a new recreational group in Carmel Valley. They elected Jonathan McCaman and Daphne Myers as temporary co-chairmen for a preliminary organizational period. Bob Jones, a resident of Robles Del Rio and a junior high school teacher in the Salinas school system, will be adult adviser to the group during the organizational period.

Sponsor of the new group is the Carmel Valley Community Center. The meeting was conducted by Center president James Smith. Mrs. Jeanne Klech helped to organize the meeting, at which well over a dozen parents were present.

Young people attending Tuesday night's meeting were: Scott Sinclair, Roger Gardner, Jim Miller, Ken Cooper, Mark Sinclair, Andy Smith, Dolores Berta, Carole Hogan, Andree Peterson, Nina von Drachenfels, Escaine McCaman, Bill Loesel, Sue May, JoAnn Miller, Anne Mewhirter, Property owners wishing to see the plans for Carmel Valley Road from Los Laureles Grade through Carmel Valley Village will find them displayed during post office hours beginning next Monday, in the post office at Carmel Valley Village. The 4-foot map will be removed each day when the post office closes.

CV Road Map At Post Office

Don Roberts On CVPOA Board

Don Roberts of El Caminito Road has been appointed to the Board of Directors of the Carmel Valley Property Owners Association to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Col. Bob Stuart, who moved from the Valley recently, president John Sigourney announced early this week.

The swimming pool proposed for Carmel Valley Community Center is shown in the lower right hand corner of the drawing above. It is necessary that the pool be placed at the edge of the property because of an easement owned by the California Water and Telephone Company. Legally, nothing may be constructed on the easement (which contains the main water line for the entire Peninsula). The outlines of the proposed bathhouse have also been staggered to avoid the easement, which runs diagonally through the property.

The drawing was executed by CV artist Jack Roush of White Oaks Theatre from a plot plan made several years ago by Ted. W. Minnis, A. I. A., of Monterey, who was commissioned by the Community Center board at that time.

Busy, Pleasant Week Coming Up in CV

STUART FLETCHER'S FAMOUS SLIDES FOR GARDEN CLUB

The C.V. Garden Association will meet Friday Nov. 1 at 8:00 p.m. in the Multipurpose Room of the Tularcitos School. Stuart Fletcher has selected a number of slides from his fabulous collection which he will present under the title "Travelogue of a Gardener." This former Valley-ite was for some years president of the California Nurserymen's Association and for four years manager of exhibits at the Oakland Flower Show.

Election of officers for the calendar year 1964 is also on the agenda. The nominating committee will present the following list of candidates: President, Pete Naugle; Vice-president, to be announced; Secretary, Lucille Chambers; Treasurer, Col. James Miller; Board of Directors, Mr. Fred Starr, Mrs. Fred (Gwynn) Starr, Mrs. Paul Anthony, and Mrs. L.L. Dickie.

Additional nominations will be accepted from the floor.

SING ALONG PARTY FOR FIDELITY CLUB

BY NELL SCOTT

"Sing Along with Mitch" will be the theme of the next Fidelity Club meeting, November 7, at 6:00 p.m. in the Fellowship Hall of the Carmel Valley Community Chapel. Records of several of his well known songs will be available and each one present may participate in the program. We feel certain that an enjoyable time will result!

For "fun with food and fellowship with friends," all persons in the over-50 age group are invited to meet with this club on the first Thursday of each month. Each one attending is expected to bring a hot dish, a salad or dessert, and his own dishes and silver. Coffee and rolls are furnished.

For further information about the club, call this reporter at 659-2195.

MEN'S FELLOWSHIP DINNERS TO RESUME

Men's Fellowship dinners at the Carmel Valley Community Chapel will resume beginning next Wednesday, November 6 with Sheriff Jack Davenport as speaker. Assisted by one or more of his deputies, Davenport will explain rescue apparatus used by Carmel Valley Volunteers and other rescue units in the County.

Dinner will be served by ladies of the Chapel Guild and all members of the church and friends are invited. For reservations call Donald Brill, at 659-4006.

A warm Valley welcome to "newcomers" Mr. and Mrs. R.M. Nessel. Having commuted for some time between Bowers Pharmacy in the Village Shopping Center and their home in Carmel, Helen and Maury became full time Valley-ites over the weekend when they moved to the former Thurston home at 99 Ford Road.

CV WOMENS CLUB TO HEAR DRAMA READING

BY M.S. STEPHENSON

The Sisterhood Players of San Jose will present their reading of the comedy, "Take Her, She's Mine" at this month's meeting of the Carmel Valley Womens Club, to be held at the Community Center at 1:00 p.m. Wednesday, November 6. The Sisterhood Players have performed before the Womens Club previously and will be warmly welcomed by members and their guests. This drama group has appeared for more than 15 years before audiences from San Francisco to southern California to raise funds for the Youth Group of Temple Emanu-El. They have also purchased a sound-scriber for the blind.

Paid-up dues for 1963-1964 will be the admission fee to Club members at this meeting. Delinquent dues will mean an admission charge of $1.00. Guests will be most welcome, and members are urged to invite them--guest charge to be $1.00. Reservations will not be necessary. Tea will be served at the conclusion of this outstanding program.

Climaxing eight years of continued effort by a growing congregation, St. Dunstan's Episcopal Church in Carmel Valley announced this week that construction of a church building will begin early in 1964 on the church property on Robinson Canyon Road, across the river from Farm Center. According to the Rev. James Brock, vicar of St. Dunstan's, the architectural commission of the Episcopal Diocese of California early this week approved plans submitted by architect M. L. Blevens, who is also a resident of the Valley and a member of the church.

Blevens' design calls for a simple structure of natural redwood with shake roof for the central worship area. An educational wing will be attached by a covered walkway, and is planned for social as well as educational functions adjacent to but separate from the main sanctuary.

Members of the congregation who worked on the building committee include Harry Townsend, chairman; J. J. Irvine, and John Mortenson. Carmel Valley designer-builder Charles Strathmeyer, also a member of the congregation, acted as building consultant.

St. Dunstan's was organized as a mission church in December of 1955 by the late Bishop Karl Morgan Block and now holds its services in the Carmel Valley Community Center building.

On November 1, the building campaign will begin in conjunction with the Every Member Canvass. Gifts to the building fund, memorials, and thanksgivings will be included in the Stewardship drive, announces J. E. Sinclair Canvass chairman.

KUDOS FOR BAND

BY CHELSEA MILLER

The Carmel Junior High School Advanced Band surprised everyone with its astoundingly good performance at the high school football game Saturday, October 26.

The pieces performed by the band were John Philip Sousa's "The Thunderer," "Fame and Glory," and "Rough Riders."

The band played on the field in their blue and gold blazers before the varsity game and at half time, directed by J. W. Larson.

TEARS SPLATTER OVER SPLATTERBALL

BY BONNIE MILLER, TERRIE READ, AND LYNN CAMPBELL

Members of both teams were in tears at the conclusion of the championship splatterball game at CJHS last week. The winning girls and the losers wept due to the excitement of the close contest, which required a two-minute overtime period before Nancy Merz's team won the GRA title.

Captain of the losing team, Terrie Read, said her tears were happiness at playing in such an exciting game. Physical education instructors Mrs. Jean White and Miss Pat Vincent both commented that it was the best splatterball contest they had ever seen. They officiated the hardly fought game. (Ed. note: they hardly fought at all!)

First one team, then the other took the lead as the score saw-sawed back and forth. The score was tied 10-all at the end of regular play. The final score, won by the Merz eleven, was 12-11.

Kathy Parker and Nancy Merz led the touchdown parade for the winners. Bonnie Miller and Terrie Read were among the leaders for the losers. Others who scored goals were Debbie Mahoney, Karla Lennox, Michele Boissiere, Sue Lang, and Connie Hood. Barbara Coss, Beth McCabe, Allison Richerts and Lynn Campbell were defensive stars for the winning team.

TEACHERS' PARTY

—BY RICKY TAYLOR

Teachers really are human too! That was proved at the Halloween costume party given by Miss Sally McPhail last Saturday night. It was held at her home on Rio Road and Route 1, and was enjoyed by members of the Carmel Junior High School faculty.

Egyptian princes, witches, Cleopatra, Roman emperors and Dracula were just a few of the exciting costumes seen at the party. The teachers showed true imagination with their costumes. Miss McPhail's Halloween party was her second one and promises to become an annual event.

SWIM POOL FUND DRIVE

A concerted drive for a swimming pool at the Carmel Valley Community Center by summer, 1964, is getting under way. The Community Center's swimming pool committee, under chairman Bob Jones, has been busily addressing envelopes and affixing stamps, and within the next few days CV's mail carriers, who will be extra-busy at the same time delivering the County tax bills, will be leaving a brochure describing the pool with a letter of solicitation in every mailbox in Carmel Valley.

The enthusiastic group of parents working toward the pool have a multitude of ideas and plans for achieving it which they promise, with pleased, excited smiles, to reveal within the next two weeks.

The proposed pool would be filtered, heated, and college-sized, with a diving ell, dressing rooms, and checking facilities. The total cost would be $52,400. All funds donated to the swimming pool are 100% tax deductible, members of the swimming pool committee point out.

Were the community to construct the pool, the Carmel Unified School District could legally take over its maintenance, staff it with lifeguards and instructors, and offer free swimming lessons to children during the summer. Members of the committee hope to set up classes (taught by adult volunteers) in boxing, bridge, craft skills, etc. A complete recreational program for the Valley's young people is envisioned.

Ground-breaking for the pool's construction would begin at the first of next year, according to the committee's schedule.

Semi-Annual Blood Bank Postponed To December 19

Mrs. Thomas McKiernon, Red Cross blood program chairman for Carmel Valley, has announced that the last Valley blood giving of the year will not be held in October, as usual, but on December 19. The change in date was decided upon because of the always-critical depletion of the blood supply which occurs between December 22 and January 3.

Over any holiday period the number of accidents shows a sharp increase. Hospitals have more patients, and require greater amounts of blood. Conversely, and particularly during the busy Christmas season, fewer donors contribute. This results in a serious shortage of blood.

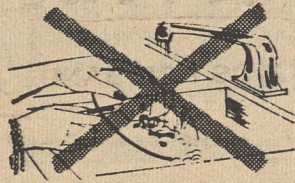

Mrs. McKiernon and Red Cross officials are asking that as many donors as possible plan now to go to the Bloodmobile at the Firehouse on December 19 to alleviate the expected shortage.

"Carmel Valley has always responded generously to our calls," said A.H. Johnson, chapter chairman, "and we are confident that they will again help. They may be helping to give someone his life for Christmas, surely the most unselfish of gifts."

TRANSFERRED TO CANADA

Dr. and Mrs. Howard E. Clark are looking forward to a visit this month from their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John P. Becker, also their first grandchild, six-months-old Joan Charlotte Becker. The Clarks were in Stuttgart, Germany, when Joan was born and did not expect to see her again until she was a year old. But her father, who was U.S. vice-consul in Stuttgart, has been transferred to St. John, New Brunswick. Tuesday he and his wife and child flew to Boston. He will spend a week in Washington, D. C. Then the Beckers plan to come to Carmel before going to Canada to live.

FLIES AROUND THE WORLD

Mrs. William R. Gargiulo has moved from Pebble Beach and this week is busy settling into a new home at Monte Verde and Twelfth. On October 19 she had an overnight visit from her son Bill, who is now living in Sydney, Australia, where he is general manager for a branch of an American drug firm. His company sent him to visit other branches in Bangkok, Rome, London, Montreal and New York, also the home office in Indianapolis. It was on his return from this world flight that he stopped in Carmel. He reported that he and his wife, June, and their children, Jill and Billy, enjoy living in Sydney and have made many Australian friends. During his visit, his mother invited his Carmel High School classmates living in this area to a party.

STUDYING IN FRANCE

Ginger Laky writes to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Les Laky, that she is thoroughly enjoying her studies at The Louvre art school in Paris. She is living with a French family and will remain abroad until next June.

BACK FROM MEXICO

Mrs. Marjorie Cain and her ten-year-old daughter, Marci, are back in their Carmel home after four months in Mexico. Most of the time they were away they lived in San Miguel Allende. Mrs. Cain enrolled for the summer program at the institute which included courses in writing and Spanish. Marci spent the summer playing with the seven children of the Mexican family next door and riding her very own burro. But after a month in a Mexican school she was so homesick that Mrs. Cain decided to return home and arrived two weeks ago. They brought back with them a Mexican dog named El Palomo. Their "mutt" does not now resemble a little dove, Mrs. Cain says. His white and pink skin is developing black spots and she suspects he's part Dalmatian.

CARMEL WOMAN'S CLUB

Geza De Rosner, motion picture producer, writer, explorer, world traveler and philosopher will speak to the Carmel Woman's Club on Monday at 2 p.m. This will be the club's November general meeting.

Born in Hungary, Mr. De Rosner received his education in Budapest, Paris, Vienna and the United States where he now makes his home. During World War II he was a pilot with the U. S. Air Force in the South Pacific. His subject will be "Easter Island," where he went on what proved to be the strangest voyage of his adventurous life.

Mr. De Rosner's professional credits include an Edinburgh Film Festival documentary feature award for "Hunters of the Deep"; a TV Emmy for "TV University" an educational program. About to be released is his documentary feature film, "The Legend of Aku Aku."

Members of the club serving as hostesses with the chairman of this meeting Miss Marion Eley, will be Miss Margaret Bott, Mrs. Barbara Murphy, Mrs. Helen E. Schwenger, and Mrs. S. K. Thomas. Those presiding at the refreshment tables will be Mrs. Blanche Mack, Mrs. Ralph Marr, Mrs. Stuart Moser, and Mrs. Charles A. Trumbly.

I tapped my about-to-be-out-lawed way along Scenic Drive last week at sunset time and spied a piper skirling a lonely march on a sandspit. "Scots Wha' Hae" was the tune he played as waves broke on three sides of him.

Closer investigation revealed it was Mac Bowe practicing on the bagpipes.

"What Carmel has always needed is a piper," remarked Mrs. John Chitwood who was listening. She ought to know! Carmel wasn't even an incorporated city when she first knew it.

A dog howled. "Dogs either like it or they don't," Mac explained.

"A letter from Liz Taylor," announced Special Delivery Carrier Jack Garcia on Sunday to an astounded Carmel resident.

"At least it's from Puerto Vallarta," he amended. The resident's wife began to breathe easier. Her husband is a Welshman.

A recent Entrepot advertisement listed some unusual items. As a result, Howard Brunn received an order for a dozen Herb Caens. For old Spike, one Anne Borden would be much more palatable.

On a wager, Beachmaster Louis Conlan will take to the hills and walk from Big Sur to Tassajara Springs this weekend. Training for the undertaking, so foreign to a sun-loving sand snoozer, Louis has been missed in his accustomed Stewart's Beach territory. He has practiced hill climbing and descending down the coast. His advisors include Sierra Club members and other masters of the cross-country hike.

On his feet as he crosses the SantaLucias, Louis will wear his reconditioned Air Force boots and a jaunty new hat. Joel Thomas will pick up the $100 stakes if Louis doesn't make it.

CARMEL MOTELS HELP FILL CITY COFFERS

BY MARJORY LLOYD

The lodging industry in Carmel continues to grow and to add money to the municipal coffers. A special tax on lodging units provides capital outlay funds for the city to purchase greenbelt, and the motel association has expressed approval of one specific project in this area.

Last week, the planning commission acted on two new motel requests and withheld action on another application for new motel construction.

They granted additional time to begin construction to Comstock Associates for a 24-unit motel to be built on six lots on the west side of Torres Street; also to Richard Catlin for a 4-unit addition to an existing motel, the new units to go on two lots on the south side of Third Street between Mission and Junipero.

Withheld for further study was the application of Howard Painter for an eight-unit addition to the Wayside Inn on two lots at the southeast corner of Mission and Seventh.

These motel additions, when completed, will add 36 units to 711 units situated in 45 existing motels in Carmel.

In addition to motel accommodations, the city has three hotels with 144 overnight rental units; eight apartment complexes with 59 units; and 38 licensed lodging houses with accommodations for 105 persons. Total number of existing accommodations for tourists is 990 units. The proposed motel additions will increase this figure to 1026 units.

A three percent tax is levied on the price of each of these overnight lodgings. Since its inception in October 1962, this "bed" tax has, to date, provided income to the city amounting to $58,657. According to Assistant City Clerk Arthur Plaxton, when all of the motel tax payments for the quarter ending September 1963 are in, total income from this source for the first year may well total an estimated $63,226.

Additional city income from the overnight lodging industry is provided by a business license tax levied on each motel, hotel, apartment facility and lodging house. This year Carmel realized $5,095 income from this source.

The business tax plus the "bed" tax to date has netted the city a total of $68,321 from the lodging industry during the past year.

Additional tourist units may well, in the near future, augment city revenue from the lodging industry to the $70,000 mark.

All "bed" tax income is earmarked for capital outlay expenditure. If the city decides to buy Sunset School from the Carmel Unified School District, this revenue would be used to finance the purchase. Existing figures show that $50,000 a year could easily be applied to this project with money left over for other minor capital outlay projects.

Carl Bosholm, president of the Carmel-by-the-Sea Motel Association says this group favors city purchase of the school site and buildings. To demonstrate their approval, members at their last meeting voted to inform the city council, in a letter, that they think the purchase of Sunset School should be the city's Number One capital outlay project.

Council To Ban Spike Heels

At their meeting next Wednesday evening the Carmel city council will give first reading to an ordinance banning spike heels. Any person who so desires may appear to protest this law which will prohibit the wearing of shoes with heels over one and one-half inches in height and with bases less than an inch in diameter.

A committee report is also expected to be given to the council on the status of negotiations with the Carmel Unified School District concerning possible purchase of Sunset School.

Wayfarer Conflict Settled Amicably

A conflict between members of the Church of the Wayfarer as to whether or not the church, founded in 1904, is legally a Methodist or non-denominational community church was settled out of court last week at a meeting of the entire membership. By a 228-18 vote, members passed a resolution stating that the church property and buildings at Lincoln and Seventh belong to the Methodist Church. Accordingly, this property should be the site of a church of that denomination it was agreed.

It was further resolved by the voting that members who desire a non-denominational or community-type church will form a non-profit corporation from the Church League to conduct their own community church. This is to be accomplished by November 15, 1963, "if at all possible."

Following an appraisal to establish the fair market value of the church's manse and another church-owned property, cash equivalent to the value of these properties will be given to the community church group. In addition it will receive one-half of the church's net undesignated funds, providing all legal steps necessary for both fund transfers have been completed. The resolution also stated that these transfers will be made within 90 days of last week's meeting, but not less than 60 days after the entry of a final consent judgment scheduled on November 12 in superior court.

If the community church should dissolve within five years, unexpended funds from the above payments will then revert to the Church of the Wayfarer, the resolution said.

As a result of the favorable vote on the resolution, the present Church of the Wayfarer will be completely reorganized in accordance with Methodist Church structure, and retain its name.

November 24 Second Tree Planting Day

Three weeks from Saturday, November 23, Carmel will have its second Tree Planting Day. According to Forestry Commission plans, Commissioner Richard Hittinger is ordering the small pines which will be distributed free to citizens who wish to help the city preserve its urban forest.

The city council is expected to give its approval to the tree planting program next week.

The first forestry commission sponsored tree planting day last spring was a great success and commissioners hope citizens will respond equally well to the second distribution of trees.

Incidentally, the tree planting will coincide with the visit to Carmel of three officials and their wives from the Island of Majorca in Spain.

Chapel Rummage Sale Saturday

The annual Rummage Sale of the Carmel Valley Community Chapel will be held this coming Saturday, November 2, from 10:00 a. m. to 3:30 p. m. in the church annex, (that large, unfinished second floor of the chapel which will one day add 4 or 5 more rooms to its present facilities.)

At present the annex is bulging with a carefully arranged assortment of the usual fascinating conglomeration--jewelry, appliances, books, furniture, cooking utensils, and the ladies promise, some really nice items of clothing, none of which is priced at more than $1!

To add festivity to the occasion, a light lunch will be served a la carte in the Fellowship Hall by the renowned cooks of the Candlelight Guild.

Proceeds of the annual sale go to support a Korean orphan sponsored by the Guild.

Mrs. Donald Waylett is chairman of the Rummage Sale, and Mrs. Clyde Lucas is in charge of light-lunch preparations.

Just about every member of the church is reported to have aided in preparations in some manner.

CARMEL VALLEY MANOR

IN THIS AERIAL VIEW of the Mid-Valley, taken this summer during the construction of Carmel Valley Manor, the looped drive which encircles the 23-acre retirement community is clearly seen in the center, just to the right (generally north) of Carmel Valley Road. It is just across the road from Carmelo Elementary School -- with its semi-circular drive equally visible. Just above Carmelo school in the photo (generally west, toward the ocean), the splendid old walnut trees of Schulte Road can be seen as a line of black running horizontally toward the Carmel River. On this corner, the First Baptist Church of Carmel Valley will be erected ... The big bend in the River, at left, toward the top of the photo, is just behind Valley Hills Shopping Center and Wolter's Hacienda Market, and marks the beginning of the 250 acre plot upon which Carmel Valley Golf and Country Club is being constructed.

New Occupants Rejoice As Manor Opens At Last

BY JEANNINE BOTTARO

Carmel Valley Manor, pictured in the aerial photograph at left, welcomed its first resident early Monday, October 14. According to Dr. William David Pratt, administrator for the retirement community, its doors are open "forever" to serve its members night and day. The Manor is "open" 24 hours a day 7 days a week, with a staff of 52 people to run it. There are nurses on duty in the infirmary and the reception desk is in operation 24 at all times.

New occupants have been moving in at an average of 10 per day, and by today the community should number about 114 residents. By Thanksgiving, Dr. Pratt expects to have accommodated 170 people, and then the Manor will gradually fill until it has received full complement of 229 guests.

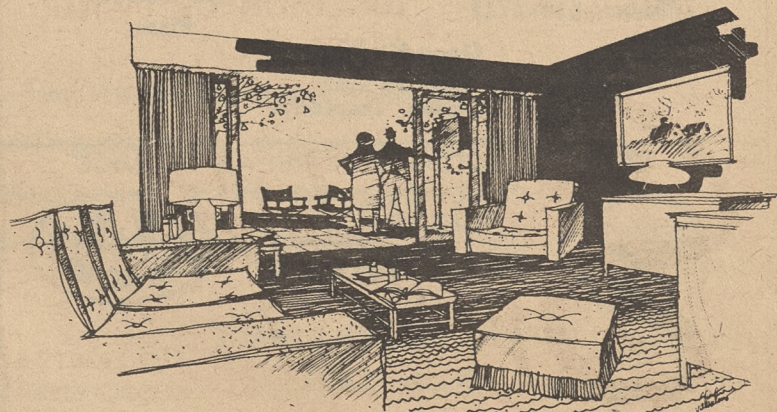

Though the Manor was initiated by the United Church of Northern California, people of all religious faiths are welcomed. All residents are over 62 years of age, and must have been in reasonably good health before they were accepted. They purchase with the entrance fee the lifetime occupancy of their living accommodations. A monthly fee covers the cost of all care and services provided, including meals, medical care, house-keeping, maintenance, and other services. The Manor is owned and operated by the Northern California Congregational retirement Homes, Inc., a California non-profit corporation.

The administrator describes himself as amazed at the joyous carefree spirit of the community already in evidence. "I had heard that retirement communities are amazingly happy places, because of the complete security and freedom from worries the retired people experience. But I was still surprised at the wonderful spirit of relaxation and joy I see in our people."

Residents are free to come and go as they please. Many have cars, but even some of these are beginning to rely on the limousine service, finding it safer and more relaxing. The limousine makes two regular trips to Carmel a day, and will make more if needed. They enjoy entertaining their own friends in their apartments or as guests in the dining room, or in one of the many lounges and facilities. Some of these are in full operating order, while others, such as the Meeting House, the shopping corner, and the beauty parlor are still being completed.

"Everyone has been most patient in this period of working out the bugs," says Dr. Pratt. "It's like a beautiful woman--this Manor. While she's getting her girdle on, she's not very pretty. But once she is all dressed, and she has all her makeup on, she will be beautiful!"

Visit Our Sunny Carmel Valley Village

Before you have lived in Carmel Valley very long, you will be unable to resist the winding road that leads deeper into the ever-changing hills -- to Carmel Valley Village.

Our pleasant, uncrowded little shopping facility lies about 8 miles east of Carmel Valley Manor, as close to you, in fact, as any other town on the Monterey Peninsula!

We have no stop lights, no awkward "parallel parking," no "parking limits," no penny-hungry parking meters! About the only thing to say of parking in Carmel Valley is that there's plenty of it. There's plenty of sunshine too. The fog may creep in from the coast -- even as far as Carmel Valley Manor once in a while. But it almost literally never comes near Carmel Valley Village!

In combination, the stores mentioned on this page will minister to most of your everyday needs. But in addition, there are two of the nicest dinner houses anywhere on the Monterey Peninsula, a gay little Mexican eating spot (first rate!), and two of the finest Little Theatres extant, in two of the most scenic settings!

There are a few very special little shops where you'll find your gift needs answered along with the most elegant accoutrements of California living.

Where but in Carmel Valley would you find a junior-size "department store" with Talbott ties and resplendent tie-silk dressing gowns right alongside a full line of hardware and paints and power-tool rentals -- and the latest in parlor games? The fact that Talbott ties are manufactured in Carmel Valley may have something to do with this combination.

There's more, but no room this week! You're cordially invited to Carmel Valley Village. You'll find the merchants soon come to know your name and your individual preferences. If they don't have what you want on hand, they're generally pleased to order it for you....

FOR A DOZEN YEARS this statue of the Holy Virgin by Monterey sculptor Djei Owens has graced Carmel Valley Village. It stands on its own little raised garden bed, between the postoffice building and the Carmel Valley Art Gallery, beneath one of the several splendid old oaks which dot the Village scene.

Last year just about this time, a great to-do was raised because sculptor Owens announced he must sell the statue. Valleyites had come to take it for granted, not realizing it was still the sculptor's property! Committees were formed to "Save Our Statue" and, -- well, for what happened next, newcomers will have to ask some of the Villagers. Each one seems to have a different version of what came next or went before, but the statue is now considered to be the property of the people of Carmel Valley.

CARMEL VALLEY MANOR OPENS DOORS TO FIRST RESIDENTS

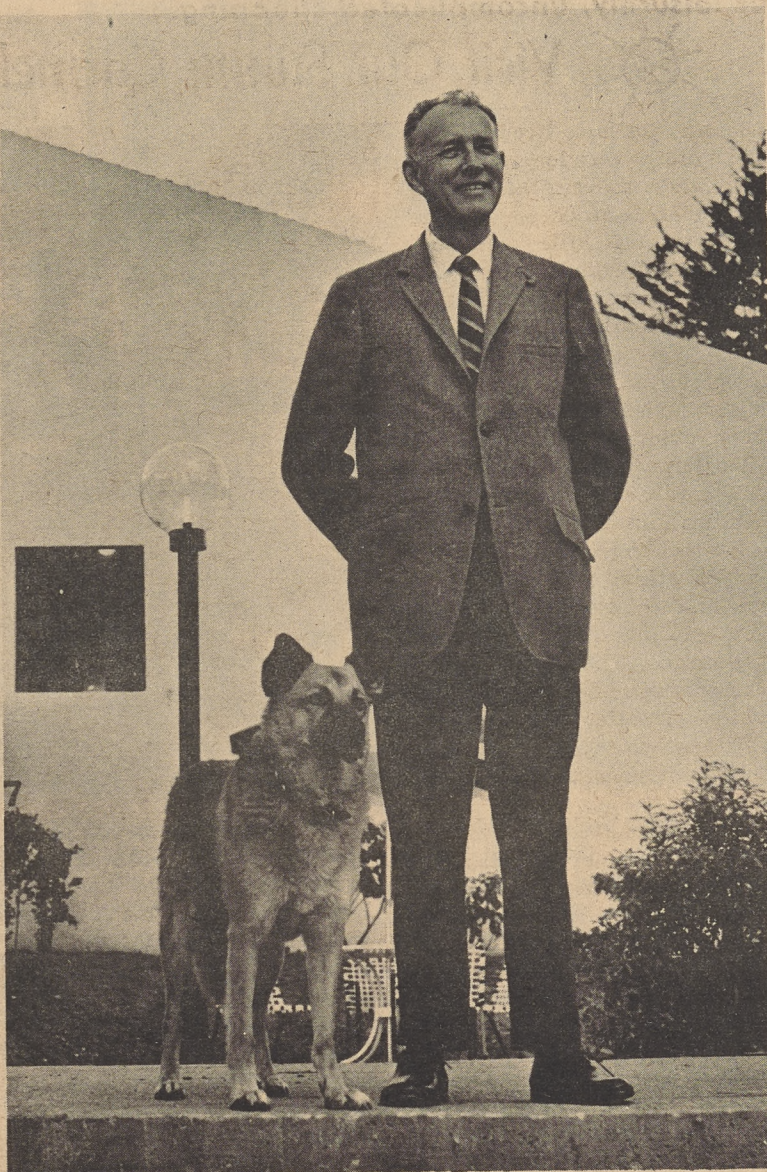

Outlook reporter Jeannine Bottaro spent a delightful weekend getting acquainted at Carmel Valley Manor, and came away with all the stories that appear in this section. Photos are by George T. C. Smith.

Here Are Some Figures

From a financial standpoint, Carmel Valley Manor is one of the largest businesses on the Peninsula, according to Dr. William David Pratt who administers the multimillion dollar establishment. He estimates that by the time the doors of the Manor opened October 14, the full cost of the buildings, furnishings, architectural fees and all that brought it to that point of completion came to a total of $4,877,000.

"We run on an annual budget of $618,000 per year," he reports. It supports a staff of 52 people, all residents of the Carmel Valley area. They include nurses, administrators, receptionists, housekeepers, maids, waitresses, maintenance men, and a host of other experts.

Residents pay a lump sum entrance fee, ranging from $8,500 to $28,000 based on which of the four types of living units is occupied, and a monthly fee which provides all essential services for lifetime occupancy and care, and averages $190 per month.

Dr. William David Pratt Brings Wide Background To Administration of New Community

A new five-year contract was awarded last week by the Board of Directors of Carmel Valley Manor to Dr. William David Pratt, assuring him of five more years as administrator of the $4.8 million dollar establishment--and assuring the residents of the continuing presence of their genial director.

With the purchase of the Noel Sullivan estate 3 years ago, Dr. and Mrs. Pratt began work towards a dream which was fulfilled this month.

They keep in close contact with each resident, Dr. Pratt having personally interviewed each candidate, and Mrs. Pratt now assuming the important role of "Director of Resident Relations". More than just the Manor hostess, Mrs. Pratt will co-ordinate the 22 different committees composed of the residents themselves. These committees will tackle community problems and projects ranging from transportation, decorations, food, and housekeeping through the various sports, study clubs, entertainments and recreation events.

Both find their jobs marvelously rewarding and have deep affection for the members of the community, whom they describe as vital, accomplished people bringing to their new environment a wealth of experience and energy. The residents were actually chosen with the idea of creating a group with much talent and many interests in common, making their retirement years as fruitful and enjoyable as possible.

"As an example", reports Dr. Pratt, "there is a special section in the library set aside for the published works of the residents. And it's threatening to take over the whole library!"

Though Dr. Pratt is thrilled with the calibre of the people under his care at the Manor, he is a man of no little accomplishment himself. He has won degrees from Michigan State University, Chicago Theological Seminary, Pacific School of Religion and Pacific University, and held pastorates in First Congregational Churches in Illinois, Los Angeles, Redlands and Pomona, finally becoming Superintendent of the Northern California Congregational Conference, an association of 119 churches. He took time off to travel as a member of a study mission to Europe, and has made ten trips to Mexico in Congregational mission work.

He traveled again to Europe in 1961 under a grant to observe retirement homes and study methods of care of the elderly, gaining knowledge as administrator of the future Carmel Valley Manor.

MR. AND MRS. HORACE LYON ENJOY TREASURED OBJECTS IN A NEW SETTING

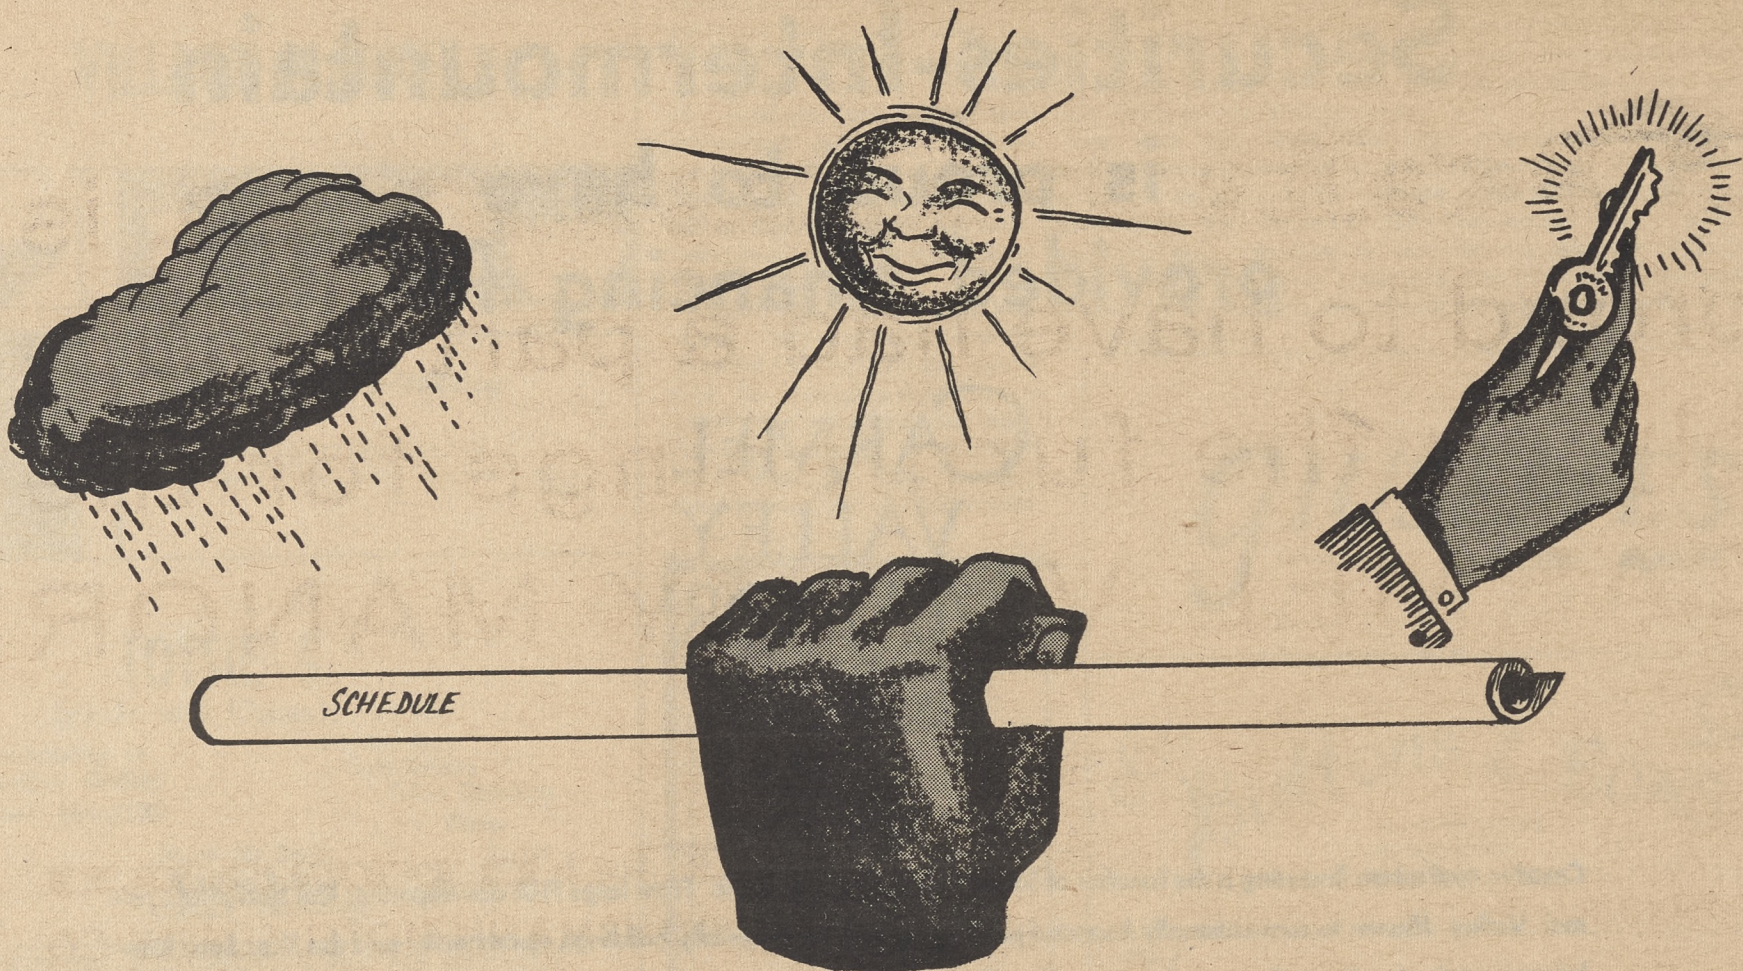

With their beautiful old furniture around them and a wide sweeping view of the Valley before them, Mr. and Mrs. Horace Lyon are enjoying their new life at Carmel Valley Manor. They have a large cottage-type unit, high on the upper level of the estate, where the land falls away toward the Manor and the hills around them. Looking toward the hill behind them, Mr. Lyon chuckles as he describes the bantam hen and chicks who come visiting daily.

"We are enjoying the life in the country--even a rooster crowing in the morning!" he says, and Mrs. Lyon adds, "It's as though we never left home though, with so many of our Carmel friends around us!" Next to them are former Carmelites Mr. and Mrs. Emil Shostrom (she is Carmel artist Nell Walker Warner) and down the hill are Dr. and Mrs. Wilder Tileston, other former Carmel neighbors. Indeed about 40% of the Manor residents are former Carmel residents!

The well-known former mayor of Carmel has been a resident, with his wife, of Carmel for the past 26 years, and still maintains active ties with its life as a member of the Carmel Rotary Club and as a member of the library board there. But not a one to enjoy his retirement passively, Mr. Lyon has already contributed to his new community by helping in the office and welcoming new residents.

Many Valley Organizations Welcome New Members

A growing number of retired people choose to build or buy homes in Carmel Valley; local organizations and community projects have been enriched numerous times through their participation.

Moving one's place of residence is always a time of extra effort and confusion, and it is not expected that Carmel Valley Manorites will become involved in community life until they are well settled.

For their convenience, however, the following list has been prepared of local organizations which will welcome their membership when they feel they are ready to "join in". It is suggested that this list be clipped and kept for future reference, not only by the new Manorites, but by new residents of any age, as well:

GARDEN GROUP

The Carmel Valley Garden Association extends welcome to all who wish to attend the next meeting scheduled on November 1 at Tularcitos School in the Multipurpose Room. Clyde Hitchcock heads the association and reports that Stuart Fletcher, a former Valley resident now retired in Santa Cruz, will show colored slides of flowers. The group will also be choosing officers at the meeting. The members meet regularly on the first Friday of the month at the school.

ROCKHOUNDS

The Gem and Mineral Society meets the second Friday, also at Tularcitos School. Lyle Winkler, owner of the lapidary shop in the Village, is president this year and is planning a program for November 9. The society just held a tremendously successful Gem and Mineral Show, an annual event that this year attracted people from all over the state.

TRAIL & SADDLE

The Trail & Saddle Club is another organization welcoming Manor residents. This club owns a 16-acre plot which contains picnic grounds, barbecue pits and a canteen, and consequently requires an initial membership fee, returnable upon withdrawal of membership, as well as annual dues. Applicants need not own nor even ride a horse to apply for membership, but do need a human sponsor. Many members are not active riders, but enjoy the club for its sociability. Mrs. Ed Riddell is membership chairman.

WOMENS CLUB

Carmel Valley Womens Club invites the women of the Manor to attend a tea at 1:00 p. m. on Wednesday, November 6, at the Community Center. The Sister-

MRS. L. K. PURCELL LOVES "WHITEHEAD LANDING"

Though Carmel Valley Manor has been opened less than three weeks, gay, warm-hearted Mrs. L. K. Purcell has become one of its favorite citizens in that short time. Mrs. Purcell faces the camera above, sharing a table with Mrs. Gladys Kiplinger at left, and Mr. and Mrs. Chris Wedderson. A former resident of Seattle, Mrs. Purcell has brought with her a tremendous sense of humor, a great love for the outdoors, and an affection for people that includes every newcomer to the retirement community.

She calls her new home Whitehead Landing. "I brought my white head and settled down, so that's what I named it!" laughed Mrs. Purcell in an all too brief interview that had more laughter than questions in it.

How did she come to choose Carmel Valley Manor all the way from Seattle? The new Valleyite replied, "I used to come down to visit my daughter who was attending Stanford, and we spent many vacations together at the Pine Inn. I heard about the new retirement home, so I came out to look at it. It was just a lot of hay field then, so I said 'I'll take that bunch of hay!'"

Mrs. Purcell has one of the Type 2 two-room apartments with a living room and separate bedroom, and enjoys her private patio, kitchenette, bath and her "gracious closet space"! She has brought her own things to furnish her apartment, saying "I think that spells hospitality."

Like other residents she believes Dr. and Mrs. Pratt are the most important ingredient in the Manor's pleasant community-like atmosphere. "The hospitality is

Cross-Shaped "Pavillion" Houses Dining Room And Other Communal Facilities of CV Manor

On the sunny north slope of the Valley, Carmel Valley Manor's white cottages are spread over 23 acres of rolling land. Poplar-lined roadways wind through them, and pines and eucalyptus soften the newness of the 170 units and the community buildings. Most beautiful among the interiors is the stunning and spacious dining room that occupies the southeast arm of the cross-shaped "Pavillion". The pavilion is the large central building housing reception lounge, kitchen, administrative offices, post office, shopping corner, barber and beauty salon, men's billiard room, and other facilities. The dining room commands a wide view of the Santa Lucia Mountains across the Valley.

Furnishings and color scheme evolved by Decorator Margot Grant complement the huge picture window. French doors open to balconies on one side, to an outdoor dining terrace on the other.

Carefully selected for design and function, the table settings from Carmel's Casa Manana start with orange and gold burlap place-mats (foam-backed and washable.) The distinctive china, imported from Germany, is of pure white. The tableware is of classic design, made by the International Silver Co. to combine "the look of sterling silver" with the practicality of stainless steel.

A charming elegance is gained because the residents have brought beautiful antique chairs and family treasures to the new building. The lovely old things cancel any feeling of raw newness, and the residents say they

All women are extended a welcome to join the club which sponsors many Valley events, including fashion shows, house tours, and other activities in the support of their several community service projects. The group meets on the first Wednesday of the month, and has Mrs. Irving Ollason as its president this year.

SCOUT LEADERS

The Girl Scouts put a special value on the woman whose family is grown, and who consequently has both the time and the experience to relieve young mothers. Workers on committees and councils are always needed and welcome. Mrs. William Hall is the neighborhood chairman who would welcome any help for several Valley Brownie and Girl Scout troops.

Equally welcome would be men who could contribute their invaluable time to Cubs and Boy Scout work. Glenn Salyers is the man to see in this case.

KIWANIS CLUB

CV Kiwanis Club issues an invitation to the gentlemen, especially former members. They meet at 12:10 at Los Angeles Lodge every Tuesday. Lou Gardner presides this year, and the club lists many service projects benefiting youth. The members keep up with world news and their community through films and speakers.

OVER-50 GROUP

The Fidelity Club of the Community Chapel, newly formed this year, is especially designed for people over 50, and extends a welcome to Manor residents to join their group. They meet the first Thursday of every month in the church's educational building in the Village. The November 7 meeting will be a Sing-Along, a short evening of community songs after the regular pot-luck dinner. Each guest brings a dish and a place setting, and Mrs. Anders Larson, chairman of the calling committee, may be contacted at 659-4288 for more information.

arranging her apartment, and is appreciative of the fact that her cottage comes furnished only with wall-to-wall carpeting and drapes. "I think it is such a good idea! We older people love to have our own furniture around us. The things have become dear to us and we feel at home at once."

There are still old sepia toned family photographs, gold framed, that she is trying to decide where to hang. But the lovely mahogany pieces already look at home, and a grandfather's clock intones the quarter hour.

Her beautiful Persian rugs add color over the carpeting, but of course their two modern bathrooms and handy little kitchen have every up-to-date safety convenience. One of their two bedrooms is arranged as a den, with a couch that can be used to sleep guests.

"We are looking forward to visits from our children--and ten grandchildren!" the lady of the house says, smiling. Their son Peter is a teacher at Carmel High School and resides in Mission Fields with his wife Marsha and their three small children. Other visitors will include daughters Mrs. Charles Gibbs from Orinda, Mrs. David Gidwon who lives in Oakland, and Dr. Margaret Lyon who is chairman of the music department at Mills College.

enjoy seeing their own things in the community use. Mr. and Mrs. Horace Lyon's great silver candlesticks stand on a sidetable with a silver tea set belonging to the Emil Shostroms.

Concealed indirect lighting will give its interior an impression of great size and serenity, Dr. Pratt explains. A flexible system of natural and artificial lighting will change the character of the interior from auditorium to Chapel, by softening or accentuating the lofty pyramidal ceiling.

wonderful," Mrs. Purcell affirms. "Everything is graciously done. The food is wonderful."

Mrs. Purcell herself contributes to that atmosphere, acting as a hostess on the Manor's welcoming committee, a large job that involves meeting the new and often confused new residents who are moving in at the rate of about ten a day. Not a one to let grass grow under her feet, Mrs. Purcell became an active member of MPVS while she was residing on the Peninsula and waiting for the Manor to open. Last year she was chairman of the Garden Tour.

She enjoys the independence of the life at the Manor. "I'm looking forward to my grandchildren visiting me here. I'm close enough for them to come to see me, but far enough away to not get in their hair! I like to feel I can lock up and leave when I want and know everything will be taken care of."

Like other residents, she is pleasantly surprised by the really rural atmosphere and quiet, and as a lifetime lover of horses, enjoys watching the horse population. She plans to use the Manor pool, but prefers to wait until the weather is warmer!

Didn't the Coffee Shop look festive Saturday with the decorations for Linda Tedrow's sixth birthday party? Candles in the shape of the numeral 6 were arranged in an attractive centerpiece with pink and white hats and favors. The cake was decorated like a merry-go-round. Linda's sister, Mrs. Gary Hixson, who arranged the party, invited Kathy Baker, Ann Meyer, Mary Ray, Melody Thompson, Tamara Hixson, Heidi Viljoen, Jean Ann Jones, Judy Koon, and Marguerite and Teresa Feeney.

Anyone who has ever received assistance from Mrs. Eyrleen Kelsey, the cheerful checker at the Carmel Rancho Safeway store will be delighted to hear that she recently received a courtesy award and gift at a luncheon held in her honor. Making the presentation was former manager, Dick Towle. It was one of only 67 granted among 4,000 Safeway employees in Northern California.

Just off the presses, a new book of cartoons by Bob Barnes whose characters from "The Better Half" have chuckle appeal for middle aged couples living counterpart lives. In this his latest edition, Bob quips, "What takes the most skill in this game is getting away from the house every Saturday!"

On a recent flying trip home on business and to pick up some WARM winter clothing was Betty Woolfenden, who described summer all over Europe as "wet, cold, and miserable." She has returned to the French Pyrenees where she and John are on movie location with the film, "Ride the Pale Horse."

Mrs. S.N. Trevino who has been a guest of her daughters, Marge Bennett and Buffie Collins and their families, returned to her home in Lima, Peru last week with a stopover in Mexico City. Before her departure, accompanied by the Reg Bennetts, Mrs. Trevino took her grandchildren, Elaine, Ronnie, and Julie Bennett and Dorothy Collins on a memorable weekend in Disneyland.

Richard Schenck attended the convention of the California Business Education Association held over the weekend at the beautiful Madonna Inn south of San Luis Obispo. Dick was a delegate from Seaside High School where he is an instructor.

George W. Groves of La Rancheria and O.T. Valnizza of Panetta Road are near Tulalake, California on a duck hunting trip.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Winkler and daughter Judy have returned from a vacation that included visits with members of their family in Ogden, Omaha, Des Moines, and Chicago. The trip was made as a special treat for Judy.

NEWS FROM HACIENDA CARMEL

by Edward G. Petherick

HENRY KAISER LOOKS US OVER

Henry J. Kaiser, Sr., together with his architect and personal physician visited Hacienda Carmel a few days ago and made a very thorough inspection of the entire project.

After spending several hours here he stated: "This is without exception the finest retirement community I have seen, and I have visited most of them."

After lunch and a conference with Lester Burdett and "Mike" Sullivan, he made a proposition to Burdett to go to Hawaii and supervise the construction of a similar project there. He also expects to secure the services of Jerry Park, who was superintendent of construction at Hacienda Carmel. Mr. and Mrs. Burdett leave Sunday for a 2-weeks stay in Honolulu, as guests of and consultant to Mr. Kaiser.

NBC T. V. RETURNS

Due to a faulty sound track on the film which NBC shot here a few weeks ago, the camera crew and sound man returned this week to do a retake of the interview with the Ray Johnsons and the Pethericks. Due to the delay, it will be about December 15th before it will be shown on TV Channel 4.

BRIDGE ABUTMENT REPAIRED

The Granite Construction was here this week repairing and strengthening the north abutment of our bridge. This was damaged during the past winter.

POT LUCK DINNER PLANNED

On Monday, November 4, Hacienda Carmel will have a "Dime a Dip" potluck dinner for its members and guests. A birthday cake will also be served in honor of those members with November birthdays.

GIORDANO BABY

The arrival of Maria Christine brings the population count of children at the Giordano household on West Carmel Valley Rd. to two boys and two girls. Greg, Jimmy, and Barbara welcomed their 6 lb. 5 oz. sister who arrived September 15 at the Community Hospital.

UROC Delegates From Carmel Valley

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Beach, Mr. and Mrs. Les Jewett, and Mr. and Mrs. George Howard will travel to Los Angeles next week as Carmel Valley delegates to the United Republicans of California convention.

A news release from Jim Large, president of the UROC unit in Carmel Valley describes the highlight of the convention as a "panel of Republican legislators who will dissect the Brown-Unruh-Mosk regime...."

"Congratulations!"

says Pacific Grove's leading citizen, Mrs. Elmarie Dyke (left) to the duo of well-known Carmel Valleyites who helped welcome crowds to the opening of Holman's new $150,000 fashion center last Monday. Mrs. Laura Otteson was director of the Junior High Group of Carmel Valley Community Chapel until her recent acceptance of the position of sportswear buyer at Holman's. Vernon Hurd has been General Manager of the department store for some years.

CV Chapel Classes Send Bibles As Gifts

Two films will be shown to church school classes at the Carmel Valley Community Chapel next Sunday morning. Both films relate to the current project of the first grade through junior high school students--that of purchasing bibles for others. For ten months, the young people have brought a special offering each Sunday in addition to their regular church gifts and so far have sent gifts of bibles, New Testaments, and portions of the four Gospels or the Psalms to Korea, Africa, China, Brazil, the Philippines, Portugal, India, and Indonesia--in the native languages of the recipients.

October offerings of the church school students are to purchase a Braille Bible for Mike Friddle, their fifth grade classmate who has been blind since he was a few months old.

Church school classes start at 9:45 a.m.

TOMORROW'S THE DAY they give babies away! The baby in this case is a silver poodle, one of a litter whelped by "Babye," the pet of Ted and Vee Fenley, at 3:00 a. m. of the very morning they opened their new shop, "Suds 'n' Scissors," in the shopping center at the Valley entrance. Despite midwifery in the midnite hours, Ted and Vee rallied sufficiently to greet an estimated 2500 visitors that first weekend! In the picture above, taken on the pup's birthday, Ted shows the tiny feller to his neighbor, Stan Ewig, manager of the Carmel branch of the Security National Bank. For the past 6 weeks, visitors to the shop have been registering for a chance to win the pup. The name of the new owner will be announced next week.

Soil Conservationists Discuss Flood Problem

Carmel River flood problems were discussed at a recent meeting in King City of soil conservation district representatives.

Bob Wilson, president of the Carmel Valley Soil Conservation District, said that more than eight miles of the river channel have been cleared over the years.

With the increased buildup of Carmel Valley, however, flood problems will increase, Wilson said. The soil conservation district service has prepared a survey.

Other Carmel Valley district directors attending the meeting were Hans Ewoldsen, Big Sur, who was chairman of the meeting, and Jean Cahoon, Jamesburg.

Highlight of the noon barbecue was a talk by State Senator Fred Farr of Carmel. He stressed the need for planning and coordination of land use problems created by California's rapid population growth. Senator Farr also discussed the state's plans to obtain needed beach sites and other recreation and scenic areas.
